Glee Club Will Present Ninth Concert-Dance At New Willard Tonight

Largest Group in History
Will Begin Program
At 8:45

100 Voice Male
Chorus Planned

Numerous Types of Choral
Selections Will Be Included

The largest, most enthusiastic glee club ever to face George Washington audience will take the stage in the ball room on the tenth floor of the Willard Hotel tonight when Director Robert Harmon lets his baton fall at 8:45, opening the ninth annual concert-dance, Dan Anderson, student manager, said Sunday.

The influx of ex-members of men's glee clubs since the club of 1924 for the purpose of singing in the opening chorus of 100 male voices, and the increased interest among both active and alumni members caused by plans for the most elaborate Glee Club Concert ever, Anderson predicted, should bring to the stage an even more alert and proficient group of singers than Dr. Harmon has directed in the past.

Numerous Types of Selections
The program which Dr. Harmon has planned for tonight presents examples of numerous types of choral selections ranging from Prothero's "Border Ballad," a song of Scottish glory and raids over the English border, to such hymns as "Bortiansky," "Lo, a Voice to Heaven," "Sounding," Christiansen's "Praise to the Lord."

The program follows: First group, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," Krenser; "Where'er You Walk," Handel; "The Long Day Closes," Arthur Sullivan; "Border Ballad," Prothero.

The second group will be sung by the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs. It will include "Lo, a Voice to Heaven," Bortiansky; "The Lark," Mendelssohn; "Oh, Gladness," Light; from the Golden Legend, Arthur Sullivan; and "Praise to the Lord," by Christiansen.

Men Sing Unaccompanied
Third group, sung by the active members of the Men's Club, unaccompanied, "Ave Maria," Vittur; "Lullaby," Brahms; "By Moonlight," von Othegraven; "Shenandoah," sea chanty arranged for male chorus by Dr. Mathew Bartholomew, director of the Yale University Glee Club, and the Alma Mater.

The fourth group will follow the intermission and will be sung by the Women's Glee Club. Comprised of 100 voices.

New Flagpole Deadline Given

Seniors Need $250 by May
15 To Complete Class
Project

The Senior Council has been granted an extension of time to collect the funds needed for the class gift of a second flagpole, according to Paul L. Moats, president of the Senior Council. May 15 is the new deadline for contributions to the fund.

The minimum amount needed for the pole is $470, of which approximately $250 has been collected. In view of the fact that about $200 is lacking, Moats said Sunday, "The Senior Council strongly urges that each senior who has not contributed to the class gift do so now."

There are 600 students in the Senior Class, and only 200 of them have contributed to the fund. The success of this worthwhile project can be definitely assured by the prompt cooperation of the remaining members of the class. It is up to them to put across the project their Council has undertaken.

Contributions may be made to any Senior Council committee member or at the Bursar's Office. Attention is also called to the fact that organizations may contribute.

Housman Poetry Is To Be Topic Of Literary Club

Poetry of the late A. E. Housman will be the topic of discussion at the first open meeting of the new Literary Club tonight at 8:30 in Columbian House.

Papers submitted by candidates for membership will be read. Considerable time will be devoted to the discussion of Housman literature following the reading of a paper on that subject by the first candidate for membership in the club.

Elon Defeats Colonial Nine By 5-1 Score

The Colonial nine went down before Elon, 5-1, yesterday afternoon, for their first loss in college competition this year. They had won 11 straight.

Southerners' victory was due principally to the left-handed pitching of Mike Briggs, who sent the Colonials down to defeat last year in Carolina.

The local boys made only three hits, two of them in the ninth inning, averting a shut-out. Joe Brennan, pinch-hitting for Horne, singled to right, advanced on Lefty Johnson's infield out, and scored on Fred Price's single to center.

The game was a pitchers' battle for the first six innings, with Bill Lanier holding his own against Briggs. But they got to him in the seventh, eighth, and ninth for all their runs, aided by a little luck, two scratch hits, and an error. The team ends its season Friday at 2:30, playing against the Marines on the East Ellipse.

Massed Band Features First Band Festival

Darcy and Stannard Conduct School Musicians
Saturday

Capt. Thomas F. Darcy, conductor, and Capt. William J. Stannard, ex-conductor of the United States Army Band, will conduct massed high school bands on the Ellipse at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the main feature of the first annual Band Festival sponsored by Kappa Kappa Psi, national band fraternity, in conjunction with the Fiesta.

Though Director Louis Malkus has not yet received answers to all the invitations sent to high school bands throughout the District of Columbia, Virginia, Maryland, and West Virginia, he stated Sunday that all the high schools in the District would be represented. He has also received definite acceptance from Frederick High School of Frederick, Md., Washington and Lee High School of Clarendon, Va., Fredericksburg High School of Fredericksburg, Va., and Shinnston High School, Shinnston, W. Va.

After the bands have arrived Friday morning, they will proceed to the Army Band Auditorium at the Army War College, where a special concert and clinic will be given by the Army Band under the direction of Capt. Darcy. They will return to the gymnasium for a buffet luncheon at 1:15 p.m. At 5 o'clock, after the mass program on the Ellipse, there will be a meeting of the directors for the purpose of setting up a permanent organization, and Malkus hopes, of planning a band competition for next year.

The bandmen from the various high schools will complete their day by joining the students of the University at the Fiesta.

The two officers will also act as judges in the awarding of the cup to that band which presents the best appearance. There will also be cups for the largest band, and the band coming from farthest away. Cups will be presented by the King and Queen of the 1936 Fiesta.

Fifty-four Enter Essays In Study Center Contest

Fifty-four essays were entered in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Center of Inter-American studies, which closed May 1.

Winners of the two $25 prizes will probably be announced during the commencement exercises, Director A. Curtis Wilgus said.

Union Adjourns for Year After Heated Tax Debate

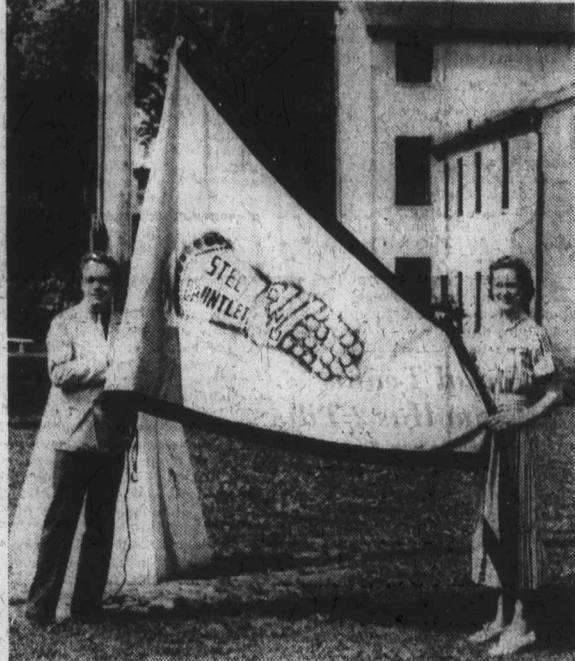

By Winfield Rankin
The George Washington Union "adjourned" Wednesday night, after one of the most heated discussions of the year.

The tax bill, which was up for discussion, contained many features the members couldn't seem to agree upon, but the most trouble seemed to arise because members took advantage of Pres. Ted Pierson's absence.

They launched into a series of "Mr. Chairman, a point of order," and "A point of information, Mr. Chairman." The Left Party did not have a minority report prepared and its chairman immediately asked for the floor, claiming that the time was due his side even though they didn't have the proper report.

Request Refused
This was refused as another man already had the floor. Robert Doan, chairman pro tem, was unable to cope with the situation, although

Steel Gauntlet Raises Hand

School of Gov't Will Hold Council Election Friday

The School of Government council election will be held Friday. Polls located behind the library, or in Corcoran Hall in the event of inclement weather, will be open from 10:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. and from 4:45 p. m. to 7:15 p. m.

Progressive candidates for the council are Charles T. McCoy, Vance Wyckoff, and J. Donald Earl. Service Club candidates are Florence Kressfeld, Fred S. Bauknight, and Norman Mumaw.

The School of Government Council will be composed of three members, who will elect a representative to the Student Council.

Hallam, Ennes Will Produce '36 Handbook

Browning, Howell, Lockhart, Sangster Will Be
Associate Editors

The publications committee approved the election of Charles Hallam to the editorship of the 1936 Student Handbook, and of Howard Ennes to the new position of business manager Saturday.

Associate editors of the handbook who were approved are Edmund Browning, Robert Howell, Bertha Lockhart, and George Sangster.

The Handbook, which was formerly published under the auspices of The Hatchet, is now an independent organization directly under the publications committee with its own self-perpetuating board. The 1936 board is the first to be elected by the preceding Handbook board.

The institution of the position of business manager is in line with plans to make the publication self-supporting as well as self-controlled.

Hallam announced that appointments to membership on the staff would be made from applications stating name, address, phone number, and experience in publications both on and off campus. These applications should be left in the Hatchet office, Building V, or in publications office, Building F, within two weeks.

Hallam also stated that letters and reply blanks would be sent before final examinations to all campus organizations to obtain names of officers.

Hallam and Miss Lockhart have served two years on the staff of the Handbook and Sangster was an associate editor last year. Other members of the 1936 board served as assistants last year.

Sigma Chi's Kappas Win Debate Cups

Winners of Both Delta Sigma
Rho Cups Argued
Negative Side

Sigma Chi and Kappa Kappa Gamma won the intramural debate cups awarded by Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary debate fraternity, last Tuesday night when both teams argued the negative sides of their respective questions.

John Kendrick and Edward Kemper debated for Sigma Chi, opposing Completion Timberlake and Lew Burton of Kappa Sigma.

McNeese, Ames Debate
Marie McNeese and Dorothy Ames of Kappa Kappa Gamma argued against Lenore Rosenthal and Nileen Cooper of Phi Sigma Sigma.

The fraternity teams debated the question, "Resolved: That the increase in expenditures for national defense provided for in the budget of 1937 is detrimental to the best interests of the American people." The sororities question was, "Resolved: That men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Teams Agree on Point
Both Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma agreed that the Army and Navy should be increased. Kappa Sigma argued that the United States Navy was equal to Great Britain's, and Sigma Chi contended that our navy was inferior in tonnage and speed, and that therefore the increase was desirable.

Delts Threaten To Quit Council

Motion Against Leemans
Protested, Rescission
Demanded

Delta Tau Delta Sunday night demanded a special meeting of the Interfraternity Council to reconsider a motion passed by the Council earlier in the day declaring Alphonse "Tuffy" Leemans ineligible for interfraternity baseball competition, and threatened withdrawal from the Council of the motion, proposed by Orrin Bartlett of Acadia, is not rescinded.

In a memorandum filed with The Hatchet the Delts said that the motion, which passed 5 to 1, with five delegates who were present refusing to vote, was an arbitrary action and was passed without proof as to the validity of its charges.

Four Games Forfeited
As a result of the passage of the bill, Delta Tau Delta will forfeit the four games it has won and in which Leemans appeared.

The point on which Leeman is declared ineligible, the Delts maintain, is based on a ruling of the Council on Apr. 5, which reads, "Any man who has ever participated in varsity baseball is ineligible for competition in interfraternity baseball." They say this ruling is not an amendment to the Constitution.

In answer to these protests, Newell Lusby, president of the Council, and Ray Howard, interfraternity athletic chairman, stated that the members who voted signified a

Fountain Added To Student Club

The Student Club added a 16-foot soda fountain to its equipment last week. The fountain will be run on the same cooperative basis as the rest of the student club.

Ralph Flewbarth, head of the University store, stated that prices for fountain drinks would be about the same as at the majority of drug stores, but that it might be possible to sell some of the higher priced drinks at a lower price.

D.C. Heads Review Fiesta Plea; "International Village" Opens Thursday for 3-Day Festival

World's Fair May Purchase Fiesta Rights

Negotiations Underway
With San Francisco
Bay Exposition

Production rights to the Fiesta's musical productions, now going into final rehearsals for their Thursday premier, may be bought for the 1939 San Francisco Bay Exposition, the cast was told Sunday.

Negotiations for the use of Fiesta productions music, scripts, and cast are being held with Stanley Beauchaire, director of the Division of Collegiate Activities of the "World's Fair" scheduled to open in San Francisco early in January 1939.

Spurred by the possibility of going under contract for the Exposition, members of the cast of the Fiesta's traditional "Follies" and revues last night launched upon final rehearsals for opening of the shows in the Tin Tabernacle Theatre Thursday.

"Davy" Is Cancelled
On the eve of final rehearsals, the Productions Board last night announced that plans for production of "Davy" had been cancelled and the complete cast and specialty numbers had been incorporated into the "Follies" and revues.

The board decided that since illness and lack of proper rehearsal time had so handicapped production of "Davy," it would be better to consolidate all of the music and specialty numbers into the two-hour "Follies" and one-hour revue shows.

Tickets already purchased for "Davy" may be transferred to "Follies" tickets or money refunded at the Fiesta office, second floor of Building N. Follies tickets are priced the same as those to "Davy," 40 cents a person, 75 cents a couple.

Revised plans for productions call for eight one-hour revues, and the two-hour Follies show. The Follies will go on at 11 p. m. Friday, with revue shows scheduled for 9:30, 11:15 Thursday and Saturday nights, and for 8 and 9 Friday night.

In conjunction with final "Follies" rehearsals, last minute check-ups on the eight one-hour vaudeville revues was also held last night. Jack Ehrmantraut's five new songs, "Some Night in June," "Forgetting Melody," "Mushy Mia," "I'm Way Up High and Way Down Low," and "Unfortunately I'm in Love with You" and Leonard Leiberman's "What Price Education," will be featured in the programs of the Follies and revues.

Campus Leaders Vie For Ballots In Fiesta Contest

Commissioners to Discuss '500-Foot' Regulation This Morning

Friday's Ruling Prohibits 'Rides'

'Fiesta Will Open Thursday', Director States
After Conference

Bulletin

The Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia this morning will review the appeal of the 1936 Fiesta for permission to carry out plans of a fourth annual carnival at originally scheduled, Howard Ennes, director, announced yesterday after a conference with Melvin C. Hazen, president of the board.

A ruling by the Commissioners issued Friday would prevent the use by the Fiesta of any mechanical novelty rides. The ruling was based on a regulation classifying any affair making use of ferris wheels, merry-go-rounds, or similar devices a "carnival within 500 feet of a school, university, or college during the school term."

"We have permission," Ennes stated, "to operate all of the units of the Fiesta—concessions, dancing shows, athletic events—through a permit issued Apr. 18 by Inspector Edwards of the Metropolitan Police Department."

"International Village"—a portion of the World's Fair transplanted to the George Washington Campus at 21st and G Sts. will lend color and sparkle to the fourth annual Fiesta opening here at 7:30 p. m. Thursday with an elaborate coronation pageant for the King and Queen.

"International Village," in reality but one part of the mammoth Fiesta which embraces carnival features, vaudeville shows, dancing, sports, and science, will consist of 19 concessions booths operated by campus sororities and fraternities, each representing a different country.

Final plans and instructions as to records and rules for operating booths will be discussed at the last meeting of the All-University Committee tomorrow night at 7:30 in Y-28. Entrance to the grounds, which are located to the rear and sides

Glee Club's Annual Presentation Lends Classical Touch to Student Activities

THE ninth annual Spring Concert and Dance of the Glee Club to be held tonight at the Willard Hotel is undoubtedly one of the most worthwhile attempts of the year upon the part of students to foster and improve campus activity.

The Glee Club is one of the very few really cultural activities in which students take part. It not only affords pleasure and instruction to those who participate in it, but it enables them to contribute entertainment for others, which is more or less classical. This, after all, is one of the primary reasons for pursuing a course in liberal education.

The present organization of the Club was adopted in 1919. Since then its membership has steadily increased in number. At present there are about 40 in the Men's Club and approximately the same number in the Women's. There are also about 50 alumni who take a rather active part. The organization has been directed since 1924 by the splendid leadership and instruction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, whose personality has continually built up enthusiasm and interest in those having musical inclinations.

Except for the Band, the Glee Club is the one and only part of the University in which instruction in music may be obtained. Many colleges and universities have regular music departments, covering several branches of the field. As it has not been deemed justifiable to have such a department at this University, and yet many students have exerted the energy to get the training which this extra-curricular activity offers, it is particularly fitting that the concert be supported by a large enthusiastic audience.

Anonymous Statements Carry Little Weight, Discourteous to Readers

THE widespread circulation of printed anonymous statements is an abuse of good taste and courtesy and if the maker of such a statement leads himself to believe such a method will have any weight with the reader, he is sadly mistaken.

In the first place any sensible, judicious minded person will not put the slightest amount of faith in an unsigned statement which is sufficient in itself to signify that the facts are either untrue or that the person or group presenting them anonymously is not willing to take the responsibility for the statement or cannot substantiate the facts with proof.

It is only common courtesy to sign one's name or the name of an organization to every statement published. Without doing so the maker of a statement may print libelous statements to which he who may be attacked has no means of recourse, there being no possible way to connect the statement with any individual or group.

The administration has been exceedingly lenient with regard to the printing of all sorts of statements and circulars which have been handed out on the campus by individuals and organizations. Since we have been so fortunate in this respect in the past, do you not think we should endeavor to foster such freedom by practicing at least a minor safe guard and courtesy such as signing all public statements?

A Day For Review Between Classes and Finals Would Seem Very Beneficial

FOR some time it has been a custom to begin final semester examinations the day following the last day of class lecture and recitation periods. Perhaps all factors on both sides of this question have been thoroughly investigated by the administration and the present practice deemed the wisest of any possible alternatives. However there do seem to be good reasons, at least from the student point of view, for changing the schedule in the future so that one or two days might intervene between the last classes and the first day of final examinations.

During the last few days of classes there are often several overdue or late assigned term papers, laboratory experiments to be executed or written up, or reports to be made on outside reading material, which must be handed in at the last minute. Long hours into the early morning hours are needed for these, and the student is all worn out when he stands his first exam the next day. Some classes have even lasted until 9:30 or 10 p. m. on the eve of the first exam day. The former may at times be attributed to tardiness on the part of the student, but the latter is not.

It is often the best policy to review a subject some time before taking the final. Some say this is not necessary if the student has studied consistently during the term. This may be true and is in many cases, but many who get B's without reviewing at all, could probably get A's after a short review. Then others remark that the mark is not what is to be worked for, but the knowledge which is to be obtained. However the system of determining the amount of knowledge that has been learned is based on the mark received.

Again, we hear how some students want to stand

exams as soon as possible, in order that they may go home. There are more students who would like an extra day to review than there are those who want to go home. This would be especially true at this University where the majority of the students either reside here or work at year around jobs here. You are also correct in believing that some students would waste this extra day or two, but again, the majority would not.

The peculiarities of this University are such that when all the pros and cons are averaged and balanced, it would seem most beneficial to all concerned to provide a day or two for review between classes and exams.

Cue and Curtain Pulls Through Hard Year With Flying Colors

THE temporary if not permanent demise of Troubadours apparently does not mean that dramatic talent is lacking on the campus. A resume of the activity of Cue and Curtain for this year will portray a bird's eye view of what the dramatist can do, though confronted by many hardships.

All three productions of Cue and Curtain this year were good. Besides starting out with a good production and ending up in the same manner, it is commonly recognized by those who witnessed all three plays that each was considerably better than the preceding one. This is a sign of true progression without even an earmark of retrogression.

Heretofore the business end of the organization, which has a continual struggle, has rarely been able to balance up much better than even at the end of the year. This year it is estimated that the actual cash on hand will also be small when all bills are paid. But a considerable amount of equipment has been purchased over the period of the year which will be kept for future use. It has been necessary to rent this material in the past, but this year's investments will furnish profit for next year.

The spirit of the organization has also been built up this year, with the smallest possible amount of friction prevailing among the artists. Much of the success of any group depends upon the cooperation of its heads and staff.

FLYING CHIPS

Appropriations Committee Deserves Credit for Outstanding Bit of Union Legislative Work.

—By Jimmie Haley—

WHAT was undoubtedly the most thoroughly prepared and carefully written bill yet to be considered by the Union was reported out and voted on at the meeting last Wednesday night. This was the tax bill which the committee, under the able chairmanship of Eddie Robertson, had been working on for most of the year.

Entitled "A BILL to provide revenue, simplify and equalize taxation, balance the budget, and for other purposes", the salient features of the bill as recommended by the committee are:

Title I: Income Taxes and Rates:

Herein is provided taxation on individual incomes with single person exemption of $1,500 and married person (head of family) exemption of $3,000. The rate of tax on net taxable income up to $3,000 is to be 6%. Incomes between $3,000 and $6,000 would be taxed at 8% and then there are brackets of $2,000 each with a tax jump of 2% for each bracket; that is, the rate on incomes from $6,000 to $8,000 is 10%, $8,000 to $10,000 12%, and so on, until incomes of $26,000 are reached, when the bracket embraces the gap $26,000-$32,000. This schedule obtains until incomes of $20,000, the $20,000-$26,000 group being taxed at 48% and the next ten thousand jump at 50%. Then the brackets include $50,000 jumps and the tax is jumped 5% for each bracket until incomes over $300,000 are dealt with, when the jumps are by $100,000, the rate jump per bracket remaining the same. Incomes from $500,000 to $750,000 would be taxed at 85%, $750,000-$1,000,000 at the rate of 87.5%, $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, 90%, and over $2,000,000 would be taxed 95%.

Title II: Corporation Surpluses:

*Items will balance out in one year and will be dropped in Fiscal Year 1938.

I don't entirely agree with the committee's recommendation, and neither did the Union itself (the Bill as above outlined passed, but with far-reaching amendments), but I do submit that the committee has worked hard and faithfully on the Bill and suggest the possibility that perhaps our fellow legislators at the east end of Constitution Avenue might find something worth while in the report.

Cue &amp; Curtain Again Breaks Past Records

By Ethel Nelson

BY the time the curtain had dropped on the last act of Cue and Curtain's final and best production of the year, "Is Life Worth Living?", presented last Friday and Saturday nights at the Wardman Park Theatre, the cast had convinced the audience that the answer to the question was in the affirmative.

The plot, which concerned itself with the events which took place after the arrival of a repertory company in the little town of Inish, Ireland, and the subsequent attempts of the townspeople to see themselves in the same situations as the play actors, was exceedingly well played by the cast of 13, plus six "extras", villagers who passed back and forth outside the window of the hotel sitting room, added to the cast by Marvin Beers, director, so that the number in the total cast would not be unlucky.

Milton Freedman, as John Twohig, lived up to the reputation he attained in "Ten Minute Alibi" by presenting a very noteworthy performance in the role of Annie Twohig's husband. Especially creditable was the scene in which he angrily dismissed Peter Hurley, local "T. D.", played by Earl Burton, from his sight for at least a week, for defeating a government measure in parliament.

Ruth Brewer, as Annie, wife of John Twohig, was very convincing in the use of her Irish brogue, and the audience she stole the show.

Eve Kalle, portrayed the difficult part of Lizzie Twohig, old maid sister of John Twohig, well, and was very amusing when she told of her long lost love, Peter Hurley, whom she claimed had betrayed her.

Edward Stevilson put on the most untitled performance he has done this year in the role of Eddie Twohig, the disappointed-in-love son of Annie and John, who gives the play its name by posing the question, "Is life worth living?"

Sue Slater, playing Christine Lambert, gave an acceptable performance as the heroine of the story, who relented in the end and decided to marry Eddie, dripping wet from a suicide attempt because she had repeatedly refused him.

Austin Gattis, newcomer in Cue and Curtain drama, presented the part of Hector De La Mare, leading actor in the visiting repertory company, with exceptional ability.

While Maxine Kahn, an old veteran, as Constance Constantia, leading lady of the repertory company, also showed her talent for portraying dramatic character parts.

Bill McCallum as an aspiring newspaper reporter from Dublin, John Hegarty showed a really real nose for news, while Ben

Festival Saturday May Be Opening of Building Program By University Band. It Will Furnish Source of Talent And Arouse Student Interest

By Robert Howell

THE inauguration next Saturday of an annual series of high school band festivals, sponsored by Kappa Kappa Psi, may mark the beginning of a productive building-for-the-future campaign by the heretofore more or less inactive band organization.

The possibilities of future benefit from such an annual event are multiple.

Not the least of them is the publicity which the University band will receive among high school musicians of Washington and the surrounding territory, and among student musicians who are not now members of the band.

Two conspicuous needs of the band during its five years existence here have been a source of new talent and a means of tapping the supply of latent talent in the University.

The festival should provide answers to both problems.

The Hatchet sponsored Scholastic Press Association has definitely been effective in creating interest in the paper among high school journalists who anticipate entering the University. At the present time, there are several members of The Hatchet staff holding key positions who have been delegates to the Press Convention.

The band can expect to benefit in the same manner.

The results, if the festival is successful, as it apparently will be, should be visible next fall. If the festival is continued as an annual event, they certainly will be noticeable the following year.

Likewise, interest among student musicians who for various reasons, principally apathy, are not in the band, can be expected to increase with the inauguration of this event.

In the first place, the festival shows an active effort among band members, through Kappa Kappa

Candland as the town sheriff, Tom Mooney, was very striking in his officer's uniform, and Tom Godey as the village butcher, William Slattery, brought out well the bad effects of the visiting repertory company's plays on the simple Irish folk in Inish.

The comic element of the play was added to by Elizabeth Griswald, who took the part of the servant girl, Helena, and Bob Walker, who played Michael, the hotel handy man.

In the staging of the play, the storm effects should especially be commended. The lightning and rain held forth during both the second and third acts, and the villagers going past the window arrayed against the storm in raincoats and umbrellas made the scene especially realistic.

One Year of Union History Leaves Few Precedents. Block System, Obvious Development, Will Probably Result in Only Two Parties

By Edmund Browning

IN view of what happened at the break-up of the final Union meeting of the year, and also of happenings in party caucuses, that branch of student politics promises to be interesting next year.

After the meeting Wednesday the Executive Committee of the Union held a meeting to decide whether the Right Party should change its name to Constitutional Liberal. The rightists give as their reason for this the list of bills which have appeared with Center approval. They claim that the Center Party is more left than center, and that they, as the Constitutional Liberals, will supply the Union with a much-needed middle-of-the-road party.

Needless to say, the Center delegation did not think much of the change of names for various reasons. The best of these was that, if parties were allowed to begin changing their names at will, there would soon develop in the Union a party for each shade of opinion, and its original purpose would be entirely lost sight of in the quagmire of the block system of legislation.

At the same time that the rightists have been turning toward the center, the Left has announced a change of policy. With the inauguration of their new party leader, Charles Colman, there will, not doubt be a toning down of policy. He has stated, in fact, that the party will pursue a policy of education and cooperation rather than one of demonstration and agitation. Even before the election of Colman, the leftists have voted in favor of a resolution that it would not do anything in opposition to the wishes of the administration.

During the past year, though the Left has been very active, still numerous students who had leftist tendencies held aloof. The recent action, while it will not, in all probability, actually draw any men or votes out of the ranks of the Center, it may be expected to enlarge the phalanx of voters at the command of the Left, and the Center may suffer from the strengthening of its rival.

During the past year, the Center has been the majority party. Since the Union is only one year old, the only precedents to which electioneering can refer are those set by the Center administration. All the inefficiencies which are natural in an infant organization, and some which are more justly blamable on the majority party may be laid at the door of the Center at the polls next year. At present that party has five more than half the membership. With the veering of both extreme parties toward the Center, it does not seem at all impossible that, even though it will probably still have more members than any other party, the Center will cease to have a majority next year.

We were given a few examples of what strange bedfellows politics make this winter when the Left and Right allied themselves to block the Center on certain measures. In the Center were to have less than half the seats, such combinations, though they would probably not be very constructive, might have the ability to block the move the majority sought to make. This would soon

The A. L. A. gets a vote of thanks from library science students this week. Two of the pros are cutting class to attend and that gives their classes a chance for extra final exam study or something. Dr. Schmidt, however, is making his trip a flying one so that he will miss only one day. Gee, he oughta fly down between classes.

One of those items that just isn't mentioned leaked out at the Luther Club's fifth anniversary banquet Saturday. It seems that some G. W. Lutherans took a hike and got locked in the zoo. When the keeper discovered his error, however, he said they couldn't stay. They were likely to distract attention from legitimate attractions.

As the Fiesta nears its beginning or finish, or what you will, more and more of our campus coeds are getting candidly caught by the cunning camera man Kiefer. Rumor has it that anyone paying five dollars can have himself cut out of the picture, anyone paying a $5 dollar can stop the show. But that's a pretty safe offer seeing as how the last tuition installment has been paid and everyone is still and as usual pretty much broke.

Well, as the Progressives say, the Progressives made a political landslide in the recent elections. We wonder what council meetings are like now with all the lame duck Servers on the verge of passing out. As Mr. Floyd was once quoted as saying, "Now, Kids, don't be sissies. You pay the buck as you pass out". That would be a "moats" graceful gesture, servilities, to hand over a few shekels to friend Paul for a bigger and better flagpole. Now that all kinds of flags are going up poles, you might find a new pole useful. Who knows, next year the Service Party may have a flag as well as a platform and a paper. Mind the color though. Those doctors and lawyers may be "Progressive" but not too progressive.

Vim and Vigor

Ruth Brewer

Whose Career During Her 3 Years Here Has Been Varied

When Ruth Brewer (Ruthie to her friends) first came to George Washington three years ago, she plunged into campus life with a vim and vigor which made her, from the start, one of the best-known and most popular girls at our University. You probably will remember her most clearly through her able characterization of "Annie" in the recent Cue and Curtain production "Is Life Worth Living?"

In her first year Ruth was elected vice president of the freshman class, and captain of the freshman rifle team. The same year she was awarded the individual squad medal, given annually to the non-varsity member of the squad making the highest score in the individual score matches.

Last year Ruth was vice president of the sophomore class and editor of the Student Handbook. But the Handbook wasn't the only publication to benefit by her editorial and journalistic talents; the Cherry Tree and The Hatchet also came in for their share of attention. Ruth is now a member of the senior staff of the former, and has served as women's page editor of the latter, while at present is secretary of Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic fraternity.

Publications and politics, however, do not keep Ruth from participating in other activities. For the past two years she has been a member of the women's rifle varsity and has received two major letters in that sport. This year she has been secretary of the Student Council and Center Party delegate to the Student Union. Ruth also has served on the W. A. A. Executive Board and the Women's Intramural Board.

Her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma, elected her to the position of Pledge Trainer.

Bold Prints Gain Favor For Summer

Both Sports and Formal
Clothes Feature
Svelte Lines

By Gretchen Hill

Prints run riot in clothes for the summer, according to news from Paris.

Extravagantly large prints are featured in evening clothes of simple lines, while tailored prints in small trim patterns hold their own in day clothes. Jacket frocks are especially adaptable for these smaller prints in silks. The evening prints show up well in Sue College's favorite frock of stiffly starched cotton, plaque, linen or glazed chintz.

Vogue's Couturier for the month features a sophisticated linen ensemble of red, white, and blue, that is outstanding for its simplicity and smartness. A vest of white accentuates the high stitched neckline of the red dress, while navy blue cord lacing at the waistline breaks the monotony of its straight center-seaming. A short white box coat with red lapels and large red buttons offers interesting contrast, and this, worn with a large white linen hat trimmed in navy matching accessories, completes the outfit.

One of the best looking suits for summer sport wear is the ever serviceable heavy white linen skirt, buttoning down the front with small brown buttons. It is topped by a double-breasted navy blue flannel jacket, worn over a white linen blouse. With a small navy blue off-the-face hat, white linen pocket book, and brown saddle white oxfords, this ensemble will prove to be tremendously popular.

Hot summer nights call for that casually crisp cotton frock that became so popular last year, and promises to be even more so this year. An ideal combination for this type of dress is navy blue starched pique cut on beautifully fitted lines. Large white revers and white laces exaggerate the simplicity of the dress itself, to good advantage. White accessories complete the picture.

For Digestion's Sake... SMOKE CAMELS

Smoking Camels stimulates the natural flow of digestive fluids... increases alkalinity

PROMS AND EXAMS. Constant rushing about and mental strain put you on your mettle. Camels set you right with their aid to digestion—their cheering "lift"—their costlier tobaccos.

THE BROWN DERBY. The chef is putting the final touches to a Lobster Thermidor, while within the restaurant the stars of Hollywood gather to dine... and to enjoy Camels. In the glamorous life of Hollywood, Camels play a major rôle. As Mr. Robert H. Cobb, the man behind The Brown Derby's success, remarks: "Camels are the choice of the majority of our patrons."

Life sometimes pushes us so hard that we feel too worn-down really to enjoy eating. Science explains that hurry, mental strain, and constant tension reduce the flow of the digestive fluids. Scientific studies definitely show that smoking Camels increases the flow of digestive fluids... alkaline digestive fluids... so vital to the enjoyment of food and to good digestion.

Camel's rich and costly tobaccos are mild beyond words. Enjoy Camels as often as you like—with meals—any time—for their cheering "lift"... for their aid to digestion—for the pleasure they bring. Camels set you right! And never jangle your nerves or tire your taste. Make it Camels today.

UNDER THE BIG TOP. Watching Miss Dorothy Herbert of Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey, you marvel at her poise. She says: "I smoke all I want—anything I care for. Camels make food taste better and digest easier."

CROWDED MINUTES as the reporter works to beat the deadline. "It's a life of hurry, hurry, hurry," says Peter Dahlen, newspaper man, "and a life of irregular hours and meals. It's well the way Camels make food taste better and set better."

Union Parties Elect Officers Close Activity

The Left Party named Charles Coltman as its party chairman. In accepting the position conferred upon him, Coltman appealed to party members for cooperation towards a constructive program strengthening the interest of students in the ownership of the underlying principle of the Left Party.

Other officers elected by the Left Party Friday night were Joseph Jaffe, vice chairman; Sylvia Bahar, secretary; Tatyana Jany, treasurer; Sam Katz, publicity agent; Toby Gerber, program director; and Irven Naiman, librarian. Coltman, Charles Kiefer, and Don Cooper were named as representatives to the Executive Council of the Union.

Temporary officers who had been elected by the Right Party for the proposed new "Constitutional Liberal" party were blanketed in as permanent officers of the Right Party Wednesday night. The Executive Council having denied their petition to be known as the Constitutional Liberals.

Bennett Willis is the new chairman of the Right Party; William Gausman, vice chairman, and Elizabeth Wahl, secretary-treasurer. Willis, Gausman, and Frank Brisebois will represent the Right Party on the Executive Council. The executive committee of the party consists of Willis, Gausman, Brisebois, Earl Eisenhart, Elizabeth Wahl, and John Willard.

The Center party elected Fred Brooks as its chairman for next year, at a meeting held week before last. Other officers elected were Morris Kruger, vice-chairman; Mrs. Lily Shepherd, secretary; and Layton McNichol, treasurer. The party will be represented on the Executive Council by Fred Brooks, Robert Doolan, and James Speer.

of the Comptroller's Office and Columbia House, will be through a 20 foot high gate formed from the letters of the word "Fiesta". On the lot itself booths begin immediately to the right of the entrance with the Kappa Alpha milk bottle stand representing Switzerland.

Next in line and built to the side of Columbia House, will be an "oriental palace" housing four concessions: soft drinks, Alpha Delta Phi, Asiatic Indians; novelty fraternity and sorority jewelry, Sigma Chi, Egyptian, popgun, cigarettes, Phi Sigma Sigma, Chinese; and hot dogs and hamburgers, Phi Mu, Turkey.

To the rear of Columbia House will be found in Canadian Mounted Police costume the nail driving booth of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the French decorated "Spot the Spot" booth of Kappa Delta; Tau Epsilon Phi's "Prize Land"; and Phi Epsilon Phi's Italian and Ethiopian bucket game.

Facing into the "Village" at the rear of International House will be Alpha Delta Theta's windmill booth for popcorn and peanuts. Between International House and the Comptroller's office will be located a golf driving game done in the Scottish motif by Delta Tau Delta.

Next will be Zeta Tau Alpha's Alaskan ice cream booth, and a new "penny-pitch" game by Sigma Nu. The rear porch of the Comptroller's office will house the thrones.

Facing in to "International Village" to the side of the Comptroller's Office will be German Beer Garden selling root beer for Delta Zeta. Inside and to the left of the entrance gate will be Chi Omega Hawaiian "Hoopla" booth.

Down the center of the "Village Green" will be located, in American Indian design, archery, bingo by Phi Alpha, and to the rear, bingo will be the Mexican variety stand of Phi Beta Phi and the Monte Carlo poker game stand of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Organizations and the Fiesta will divide construction costs. Actual construction will be done by the Fiesta staff.

Two prizes, one for the best decorated booth and one for the booth making the most profit, are offered by the Fiesta. Both will be 1936 editions of the Cherry Tree.

Leaders Chosen By Union Parties

for it, the Union should insert an amendment which would allow none of the other moneys, such as that of the general fund, to be spent on social security.

At this time, though, Morris Kruger arose and pointed out that since no money had been made available, all receipts being expended for definite projects, there was no need to make the amendment as the social security bill would die for lack of funds.

After a few more futile attempts at getting the amendment added, the Rightists retired from the battle. Heated in fact, but not in spirit, as was shown by their attempt to change their name to "Constitutional Liberals".

Frank Brisebois and William Gausman had fought the social security bill on the grounds that it would be impossible to finance.

Bill Passed 23 to 14

Apparently believing that the primary purpose of the tax bill was to balance the budget, based on actual government expenditures, the Union voted 23 to 14 in favor of the bill without the consideration of unemployment insurance.

An amendment, offered by George Stevens, radically changed the bill as presented by Edward Robertson, chairman of the committee.

As finally passed, the amendment adjusted the graduated rate on incomes so that the lower and middle bracketed incomes would yield much more revenue than provided in the Robertson bill.

A proposal for a manufacturers' excise tax, the so-called "invisible" tax, was rejected, as were provisions for a tax on lending libraries and new books, and for an unemployed lottery, which were in the original bill.

The Union also passed a bill Wednesday night providing for the equalization of educational opportunity.

Max Farrington and Coach Ed Morris of the coaching staff were unable to furnish evidence of such participation.

Stanford Five Wants Game: Netmen Meet Two Foes

Five May Schedule Trojans

Contract Sent Athletic Office by Stanford University

Will Play During Christmas Holidays If Game Is Approved

THE first fruit from George Washington's marvelous basketball record of last season was realized last week when Stanford University sent a contract to the athletic office to play the Colonial's five during the Christmas holidays next year.

According to those close to the source of this news, the only thing holding back the George Washington authorities from closing the deal right now is the high guarantee asked by the Stanford officials to come up here. However, that difficulty should be ironed out inside of a month, and the game may be definite then.

Other big teams are angling for games here during the holidays, but the names are being held until their scheduling is sure. The bids from these teams came only after the Washington team had completed its most successful season in history, winning 16 games and losing three. Next year's team is commonly expected to be perhaps better than this year's team.

Leemans Only Grad

Only one man is graduating, Tuffy Leemans, and as he alternated with Milton Schofield as regular guard, his loss will not be so greatly felt. Coach Reinhardt will have back Tommy O'Brien, Hal Kiesel, Ben Goldfaden, George Freilicher, Clarence Berg, Pete Yurwitz, and others from last year's varsity as well as Sid Silkowitz, George Karp, Pete Beronio, Quinn Collins, Bruce DeRum, Joe Brennan, Bob Paris, and a few others from last year's championship A. U. freshman outfit.

Stanford has one of the most powerful basketball aggregations on the coast, being in the Pacific Coast Conference and winning most of its games last year. John Dunn coaches the team.

Big Step Forward

If this deal is consummated it will be one step further toward the scheduling of big name teams. For the past several years, the athletic office has steadfastly carried on negotiations with big teams, even at the cost of offering large guarantees, just to bring them to Washington and put on a good show.

This latest move has another significance in the eyes of George Washington sport followers. Many times when an athletic team strikes up relations with another team, the relations frequently extend to other sports. It is not impossible then that in the near future, George Washington may extend its relations with Stanford to football.

Price Rejects Albany Offer

Brilliant Colonial First-Sacker Not To Accept Bid to Minors

BECAUSE his parents wanted him to finish school and because he, himself, felt he needed a bit more experience, Fred Price, sterling first sacker of the Colonial nine has declined the contract offered him by Joe Cambria, president of the Albany Senators baseball team last week.

As soon as Fred received the contract last week, he sent it home to his parents and then went home over the week-end to confer with them. It was their opinion that Fred should obtain a degree and then, perhaps, play professional baseball.

Fred's own opinion was that he should play here until he graduates and be that much better off for the experience. Though he is a polished felder, his batting is not of the caliber for pro ball, and a few more years in college will add a sureness to his hitting. Of course Price could obtain more experience playing in the minor leagues, but he felt that he might not be able to make good with Albany and he would feel sure of getting a job if he had some sort of an education.

Phillips Will Serve Upon "Team"

Bernath E. Phillips, G. W. Graduate, Picked for Olympics

BERNATH E. PHILLIPS, graduate student in physical education here and associate director of physical education of the Y. M. C. A. has been selected as a member of the American Olympic team of physical educators for the Olympic games in Berlin this summer.

Phillips, who received his degree in physical education last year, is one of six graduate students chosen from universities from all parts of the country to collaborate with 21 physical education students in giving demonstrations and conducting discussions of various sports before the International Sports Education Congress to be held in connection with the Olympics. He will represent the Middle Atlantic States.

The name of Phillips is synonymous with sports locally. He is a member of the National A. A. U. Gymnastic Committee and of the District A. A. U. Basketball and Gymnastic Committees. For the past six years, he has served as associate director of physical education at the Washington "Y", to which he came after attending the Silver Bay Physical Education School in 1930.

Fiesta Sport Program Full

Boxing, Table Tennis Included in Show May 14, 15, 16

PROMISING one of the most interesting and entertaining sport programs of its short existence, the University Fiesta will present boxing and table tennis as the piece de resistance of this year's show, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

The boxing, half of the sports show will be handled entirely by Morris Fox, athletic director of the Police Boys' Club. Fox will have an entire troupe of boxers from the ranks of the Boys' Club and, as those who have seen his young charges perform will testify, he will have a good show. The Boys' Club has boxers ranging upwards from 75 pounds, the feature of which is usually the sight of boys not more than five or six years of age swinging gloves which resemble pillows. This event will be held either in the gym or in Corcoran Hall.

The Washington champion and the runner-up will feature the novel table tennis show arranged by the Fiesta sports committee. Though this is the first time such an event has been on the Fiesta program, its very novelty promises success. Elias Schuman, 17-year-old Wilson Normal, Teachers' College student, heads the card. Elias has been the District champ for two years and, in the National Tournament three weeks ago, defeated the seventh ranking player in the country, Harry Cook, only to lose to Bill Haydon, the champion of England. Manny Moskowitz, who will play Schuman, is the champion of New Jersey, and the second best of the District. In the two big Washington tournaments, Manny met Schuman in the finals, only to lose after a close fight. Their match should be a classic.

Manny is the more spectacular of the players because of his driving game. Many times he drives the ball with the speed of a bullet, sending his opponent back 15 or 20 feet to return the ball. Schuman is the steadier of the two, and it is his ability to return Moskowitz's terrific drives that gives him the edge.

The other two players on the program are the Sherry brothers, Lawrence and Raphael, who are well known to George Washington students, both having played on the tennis team here and having recently graduated from Law School. Raphael is ranked third in the District and Lawrence is right behind him, and they comprise the No. 1 doubles team of the city.

The program will consist of matches played between Schuman and Moskowitz, Sherry vs. Sherry, and one doubles match.

Things and Stuff - - -

THE footballers are certainly sorry spring practice is over. Oh, yeah. . . After losing an average of about three or four pounds each, they were crying for mercy when the warm weather rolled around. . . Barney Welsh, tennis coach, has extended his activities to golf. After surprising everyone last year by beating Claude Rippey, Barney has decided to enter the spring golf tournament at the East Potomac course. . . Mr. Purvis, the umpire who works the G. W. games, told one on himself the other day. . . It seems that years ago, Purvis was given a trial with the Washington Senators. . . Well, the manager of that team was a stickler for little things that are considered a part of the head work of baseball, like not hitting at a ball with 3 and 0 on the batter, etc. . . Purvis was put in a game against Philadelphia and, with two balls and no strikes on him, he doubled, scoring

Three Tied For Frat Lead

Interfrat Council Rules Delts Out on Use of Leemans

Phi Sigs Continue To Top League B Nines, Beat S. X., 12-1

LEAGUE A of the Interfraternity diamond loops took on the aspect of a half dozen well scrambled eggs Sunday as far as discerning any outstanding team was concerned. By virtue of a council ruling forfeiting all Delta Tau Delta games to date, coupled with victories by Kappa Alpha and Theta Delta Chi, no less than three teams are tied for first place. In league B the Phi Sigma Kappa nine continued on its merry way by handing Sigma Chi a 12 to 1 lacing and now has a full game lead on its nearest competitor, Acacia.

The Delta Tau Delta ruling by the Interfraternity Council was based on the use of Tuffy Leemans, who, it is claimed, played varsity baseball. The vote was five to one with five members not voting and one absent. The four D. T. D. victories thus forfeited go to Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Delta Chi, Theta Upsilon Omega and Kappa Sigma. Last week the Hatchet printed a story stating Leemans had been proved eligible. This week's action by the Interfraternity Council proves this to have been inaccurate. Delta Tau Delta has protested this decision.

D. T. D. in their Sunday's game, played before the ruling of the council, used Leemans on the mound against T. U. O. and won 24 to 5, though the game is now forfeited to T. U. O. In other League A games, Kappa Alpha defeated Kappa Sigma 19 to 10 in a game featured by a home run and triple hit by Bourke Floyd of K. A., and Theta Delta Chi won from T. K. E. 6 to 3. Tex Beasley of T. D. X. turned in the best play of the game when he took a fly in center field and then threw to first to double off a runner for the last two outs of the game.

In League B the Phi Sig victory over Sigma Chi saw Jimmy Couch, Vernon Stehman, Hal Kiesel and Ed Clark hit home runs for the victors of the pitching of Dobson of Sigma Chi. Clark, P. S. K., held his opponents to one hit.

Paul Vanness hit a home run for Acacia in its League B victory over S. P. E. by a 9 to 3 score. Jack Davis pitched for the winners. Sigma Nu lost to S. A. E. 14 to 4 in the other League B game.
